

Knowledge Management

The power of peer learning: A case study network

To book a place at this event please email networks@london-excellence.org.uk or call Rose Viggiani on 020 8405 5064

When: Tuesday 9th January 2018, 12noon - 4:30pm

Where: CIMA,
The Helicon, One South Place, London EC2M 2RB

Cost: Free of charge to members and new contacts

Overview:

12noon Refreshments

12:30 pm Welcome and Introductions

12:45pm Tony McQuaid, Knowledge and Information Manager, NS&I:
"Bringing a KM strategy to life"

Tony is an experienced knowledge and collaboration manager with extensive national and international experience. He is particularly adept at engaging key stakeholders of all levels of an organisation to develop, implement and manage strategies and programs to support corporate priorities and enable the efficient collation and dissemination of knowledge and information across multiple geographies.

Tony will give an overview of his experience on this topic and will invite your ideas and questions.

Open Discussion: challenges and issues

What are your burning issues? What are you particularly proud of?

Participants are invited to share their achievements and the challenges and issues facing them in their own organisations with regards to knowledge management.

These issues will be shared and discussed with a view to identifying good practice ideas.

4:00pm Next steps: ideas for next steps and future meetings

4:30pm Close

With thanks to Simon Cavadias and CIMA for their support in hosting this event.

Simon is the Internal Audit Manager (UK) for CIMA.

Simon is an experienced quality and business improvement manager with energy and enthusiasm having had experience across the manufacturing and service sector in progressively responsible positions.

He is a highly motivated team player who continually seeks opportunities to expand knowledge and skills, which he can utilise both inside and outside the workplace.

He contributes to the local community as a School Governor at Templefield Lower School and to the local Greek community by chairing the committee that governs the St Charalambos Greek School in Luton.